CHASE EDGINGTON

Chase didn't have an interest in Aviation until he received his parachuting license during his time as a Marine. The conversations he had with the pilots in the military further sparked his interest and he also enjoys the on-the-go lifestyle being a pilot provides. Chase received his flight training in the San Francisco Bay Area and he now has CFI, CFII, and an MEI ratings and his favorite thing about flying is the views. His goal now is to create safe, knowledgeable pilots as an instructor, but the end goal for Chase is to fly for Southwest, primarily on the west coast. Chase has open availability 7 days a week!

Fun fact about Chase: He has a cat named Pepperoncini
